Not yet...I'm actually surprised! I do want to send them today. I have some comments, can I send you my edits and call you?

Thanks!

Has Diana been hassling you for the presentation?

Ok, why don't I look at them and keep an eye out for Lynn's issue with the hazard statements...

Hi Samantha, sorry to inundate you with emails! I have made the last few tweaks that Lynn wanted (really just a bit of reformatting on slide 14-previously slide 13).
Feel free to give me a call. I don't plan on making other changes to the slides unless I receive more comments on them.

-Kathleen

Thanks everyone for responses and such. I will elaborate a bit as I can see that I wasn't as clear as I perhaps could have been in a couple of places that you highlight....I will use bold and underline ☺.

I really really like what you did with the presentation. You have done a fantastic job of incorporating comments that I know I had!!! I do have some more...none are major--although the most important one is about the description of how the oral slop factor was chosen. Take a look below and see what you think. Good luck! You will do a great job because you are so good at this! Let me know if you have any questions.

Move Slide 23 to just after the title. That then lets you have slide 22 up there for all to see while you take questions!

Hi all, thanks for all your great comments during Monday's mark-up meeting. Attached I have a revised version of my slides with a few embedded comments for you. I hope I have (at least mostly!) addressed your comments.

Please let me know if you have additional suggestions. Please send your comments by tomorrow afternoon if possible as I believe we need to send this off to SAB by tomorrow or Friday.

Thanks!

-Kathleen
